FRIGHTFUL FALL.

Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock while engaged at work on the new residence of F. G. Cox, James Arfack and Harry Ramage were thrown from the cave of the house full two stories to the ground, by the breaking of the scaffold on which they were at work. The fall was about 25 feet. Arfack striking the brick foundation of the front portico with his head cutting a bad gash in his forehead and bruising his face and arms and other portions of his body quite seriously. He was carried to Dr. Clemett's office and given medical attention and was then taken to his home where he rapidly recovered and was able to be out Saturday and will be about his work again soon.

Ramage fell on Arfack but also struck his head on the brick foundation and received an ugly scalp wound and many bruises over his body. He is getting along alright and will be able to resume his work soon. Dr. Driskill attended him and dressed his wounds. It was a narrow escape for both of them and had not the framework of the scaffold checked their fall they would have been more seriously injured or perhaps killed.

Running a Newspaper.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him he does not raise his voice to the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that aside and wades into the dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly, and, without stopping to think that it suits many other readers, make a grandstand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it, but such people are becoming fewer every year. —Grand Junction Herald.

OUR DISTINGUISHED

GUEST

Bishop Hendrix Officiates at The Dedication of The New House of Worship.

In spite of the cold and cheerless weather which prevailed on Sunday last a large audience assembled at the Methodist church to hear Bishop E. R. Hendrix of Kansas City, Mo., preach the dedicatory sermon.

The Bishop, who is President of the Federated Council of America, is the representative official of some eighteen million of Church Members, delivered a long-to-be-remembered sermon from the text, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business," after which he solemnly set apart the Church for the worship of Almighty God according to the impressive ritual of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The pulpit at the night hour was occupied by Dr. Mather the pastor who preached a thought-provoking sermon from the text, "Doing Wonders" in which he emphasized the Omnipotence of God in the Physical World as a grand evidence of the Power, Wisdom and Love which the Almighty exercises in the Spiritual Realm. The sermon in argument, illustration and delivery was a strong presentation of the "old-time religion" of the Fathers and worthy the occasion.

The musical program was most effective at both services at which Mrs. Shefflin of Smithland, Ky., and Mr. Robt. Lear rendered much appreciated solos.

On Sunday next the "Feast of Dedication" will be brought to a close with two sermons by the Rev. Gross Alexander, D. D. of Nashville, Tenn.

CALLAHAN DIES OF WOUNDS

Fed Leader And Associate of Late Judge Hargis Succumbs.

Jackson, Ky., May 13. — Ed Callahan, noted feud leader, late associate of the late James Hargis in politics and feud troubles in Breathitt county, died Saturday night at the Buckhorn hospital from wounds received on April 23. Word had been sent out from his bedside late Friday afternoon and his immediate relatives had been summoned there. Skillful physicians were in attendance and for a time it seemed that he would rally and recover from his wounds.

On Friday serious inflammation set up in his lungs, accompanied by an alarming rise in temperature, and he rapidly grew worse and did not again rally.

Decoration Day Will be Observed at New Cemetery.

The usual May 30th decoration day exercises will be observed at the new Marion cemetery, this year. Everything is in nice order out there. The sexton, J. S. Green, has not let any grass grow under his feet or anywhere else that it shouldn't grow. Every one should go, and visit the silent city on this day. The officers, for the past year, will report and officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

Have you a father, mother, sister or brother; or perhaps a friend buried there. If so do you think a flower laid on the last resting place of that relative or friend on decoration day would be appropriate? Let everybody come and show that you appreciate the beautiful cemetery.

Small Cyclone in Crittenden.

Last Tuesday night a terrific rain, wind and hail storm passed over Crittenden county doing considerable damage to timber and buildings. Just a few miles east of Marion it blew down a barn out on the farm of R. F. Wheeler and demolished it, and many trees in the neighborhood were blown down. Saturday afternoon, the wind, hail and rain repeated the performances of the previous day and demolished a new and large tobacco barn on the Riley Clark place now owned by Albert Travis and also blew down a barn for James A. Pickens near Tribune. There was considerable damage to trees and outbuildings in various parts of the county, not only by the wind but by the hail and rain.

THE FAMOUS FORD AUTOMOBILES

$690 - TOURING - $690

"FORD" THE UNIVERSAL CAR.

And this is the stamp of approval of a responsible maker—proud of his good handiwork. The "Winged Pyramid" is backed by the biggest reliability in all automobilism—something better than a guarantee—a worthy reputation—and a car that will go seventy-five thousand strong this year.

$590 - RUNABOUT - $590

You can't get beyond the domain of "The Winged-Pyramid." The world over you'll find Ford service stations near at hand—a distinct Ford advantage. And a reason why you should place an early order for one of the seventy-five thousand new Fords to be sold this season.

$590 - PHYSICIANS - $590

A man is "complete" without his clothes—and so is an automobile without equipment. But the Ford is complete and equipped—all there but the passenger. It's the perfect completeness of the Ford car that enables us to easily sell seventy five thousand of them this year.

JOHN W. WILSON, Local Agent MARION, KY.

Says Every Body Goes to Hell.

Alfred I. Ritchie, a Bible Student of wide reputation in the United States and Canada, declares that everyone goes to hell. Mr. Ritchie has some interpretations on the Bible that appears sensational and along a new line. In an interview yesterday he gave out some interesting information regarding various prominent Bible subjects that requires more than ordinary consideration to obtain their full meaning.

"I have a new cure for infidelity," declared Mr. Ritchie. "To prescribe the remedy we must find the cause. which I believe is the inability of the people to understand how a God of all love, wisdom and justice, and having all Power, could permit present conditions and conduct human affairs as proclaimed by the dominant creeds of Christendom. Unbelievers choke at the idea of the great Creator providing an eternity of any kind of torture for His own creatures, especially if He was gifted with the foreknowledge that most of the human family go there, and that He had all wisdom to plan otherwise, and all power to do as He pleased. Truly the general religious teaching on the line is a foe to reason and the mother of doubt.

THE BIBLE GLORIFIES GOD.

"The Bible, taken as a whole, presents no such idea of our blessed Heavenly Father, but praises, glorifies and exalts His holy character. And so, when understood, it will be as natural for average human beings to emulate, love and praise God as it has been in all human history for them to worship as leaders and heroes those who have shown greatness of character, either in power or wisdom or benevolence. When rightly shown the character of our God will compel the admiration and loyalty of the masses infinitely more than the character of Caesar, or a Napoleon, or an Edison, or a Bryan, or a Roosevelt. What is the reason that the character of God is so little revered, that the Holy Name of Himself and of the Saviour are made the commonest "cuss" words? We answer that it is because His character is blasphemed by the erroneous "Hell" teaching of deceived Christianity.

"Well did Father Russell, of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Tabernacle say, 'If the Bible does teach that eternal torture is the fate of all except the saints, it should be preached, yea, thundered, weekly, daily, hourly! If it does not so teach, the fact should be made known, and the foul stain dishonoring God's Holy Name removed! I understand a free copy of his pamphlet, "Food for Thinking Christians," which examines every mention of Hell in the Bible, can be had by addressing him.

"Everybody goes to Hell. Why? Because Hell is the grave, or death condition, to which good and bad alike go to remain until the blessed time of resurrection, judgment, and restoration to perfection of all the obedient. The Hebrew word sheol is positively the only "hell" word in the Old Testament. Its Hebrew definition is the unseen state, or the place of the dead. It occurs sixty-five times, and nowhere is the word fire associated with it.

NO WORK IN SHEOL.

"Solomon said, There is no work, nor device, nor knowledge in sheol," and he adds, "whither thou goest." Why? Because all in Hell are dead. Referring to the resurrection, the Revelator says "Death and Hell (marginal reference reads "or the grave") delivered up the dead (not the living) which were in them."

"Sheol is translated twenty-nine times as "hell," three times as "pit," and thirty-three times as "grave." In the revised version, "sheol" is translated as "hell" only about twenty times out of the sixty-five times, and its Greek equivalent, "hades," occurring eleven times in the New Testament, is not translated as "hell," at all, but is left untranslated, because the Bible revisers knew it did not mean eternal torment.

"Only sixteen out of the sixty-six Bible books use the word "hell," in the English translation. St. Paul wrote fourteen books of the New Testament, but never mentioned "hell fire." John never mentioned it in his Gospel, nor in his three Epistles; nor did Peter in his two Epistles, nor Ruth, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Jeremiah, Daniel, Hosea, Joel, Obadiah, Micah, Nahum, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, or Malachi. Strange that all these holy Apostles and Prophets ing into that "lake of fire" which is supposed to be the doom of billions of humanity.

"No wonder that men turn away in disgust, full of fear and doubt! No wonder that church pews are empty and no one seems to care! No wonder that hundreds of thousands are infidels or are fast becoming such! The sure cure, the only cure, is to get a knowledge of God's true character, for to know Him is to love Him. With present day Bibles, Bible Helps, Concordances, Bible Dictionaries, and Studies in the Scriptures, no one need be in the dark."

Obituary.

Rufus Maxwell Deboe was born in Crittenden County near Crayne, Oct. 5, 1882. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Deboe. Rufus was always a good, quiet boy. He made profession of religion and joined the church at Crayne, Dec. 1, 1902. He was living at Uniontown, Ky. at the time of his death.

About three years ago he was married to Miss Lelia Sweets. To that union were born two children, one of which still lives. He departed this life Mar. 14, 1912, aged twenty-nine years. His illness lasted six weeks. His sister Nona was with him the last three weeks. While he lingered for this time in the shadows of the grim monster, Death, we are assured that he thus lingered with patience and resignation. While it was hard for him to break with fond earthly ties, father, mother, brothers, sisters wife and child—yet he was resigned to his Master's will and folded his arms and silently slipped away to the great beyond.

He is gone and leaves loved ones to mourn his loss, but what is loss to us, is his eternal gain. Free from the toils and cares and sorrows of life, he has triumphed ed over them and is approved and crowned amid the shining hosts of Heaven with a diadem of eternal glory.

NO REASON FOR IT

You Are Shown A Way Out.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the word of a resident of this locality who has found relief. The following is convincing proof.

F. L. Stewart, Princeton, Ky., says: "We still use Doan's Kidney Pills in our family and consider them an excellent remedy for kidney disease. They have never failed to give me great relief whenever we have taken them. The statement given by a member of my family some years ago was true. I am glad to again publicly recommend this preparation."

Dog Has Pendant

For Eating Jewelry.

Pittsburg, May 15.—To recover a $400 diamond ring belonging to Miss Elizabeth Carson, of Craig street, this city, an operation will be performed on her pet bulldog, Jeff.

Because the dog swallowed the gem, X-ray photographs of the animal's stomach were taken and an object resembling a ring showed on the negatives.

When Miss Carson was dressing to go to a theatre last Friday evening she laid the ring on a dresser, but it was missing when she looked for it later. Jeff had been playing about the room. Saturday the dog swallowed a half dollar, and this directed suspicion against him in connection with the ring.

STORK SLIGHTED GIRLS FOR ALMOST A CENTURY

Four Generations of This Family Had Only Boys Left by Stork.

When the wife of Roscoe Turner, boat builder, 2010, Gasplan Ave., presented him with an heir this morning the nurse tiptoed out and said to the crowd of Turners that had assembled— "It's a girl."

Immediately there was a scene of great rejoicing, all the Turners shaking one another by the hand and the little boys dancing with delight. The arrival of this new Turner breaks a record established through four generations every baby born in that period of near 90 years having been a boy.

Payne Turner, founder of this family came from Massachusetts. He had four sons, no girls. Three of these sons had children, all boys. Eight of their eleven boys married and six had children, all of them boys. All of Roscoe Turner's cousins and brothers who have married so far have had only boys. The Turners had almost given up hope, when Ruth Elenor Turner set up her first weak little cry at 5 o'clock today. —Atlantic City (N J) Dispatch.

The Women Past Fifty.

Careful studies of the histories of men and women, their growth and development, extending over a long period of years, presents some facts not recognized in the literature of the day writes a physician in Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette. A man and woman, both college graduates, married at the age of 25 years. They both possessed culture and training above the average and both were in excellent health.

During the first twenty-five years of their married life he attained great eminence and did the intellectual work. Then he became at a standstill without any special cause. During this time his wife had given all her attention and time to the care and education of her children and domestic duties, and while regarded as a very strong woman, she not to have risen above her surroundings.

Then suddenly she realized her husband's decline and entered into the work in which he was engaged and showed rare intellectual vigor and power, and in a short time attained a reputation. This lasted until her death. Her husband, in the meantime, failed to keep up his previous reputation and gradually declined although he was not in ill health. His intellectual work was over, but her's began where he stopped and went on to great heights.

Thus in almost every community there are women not recognized as above the average in intellectual attainments and wisdom, who suddenly after fifty years of age, broaden out into strong vigorous thinkers and become great powers in the community. Joseph Cook said: "The most intellectual audiences I have ever addressed were women past 50 years of age. I have found them most appreciative and critical and when I have asked for questions to bring out further explanation of a subject their wisdom has astonished me, as well as their clearness of knowledge and breadth of judgement."

The late Prof. Shaler affirmed that all things being equal and with a degree of average health the real intellectual growth of women is more rapid after 50 years of age and from then on to 70 than men.

Usually men at about 50 years of age begin to decline in productive literary and constructive work. The rest is spent in gathering up and perfecting work that has been outlined and performed before. In women it is just the opposite. Many men who live rationally and carefully exhibit no halt in intellectual growth until after 70. The best work of life is done in the last fifteen or twenty years.

In women it may be stated as a rule that their highest attainments begin and go on after 50. The term "grand old man" should more literally include the woman who is the best illustration of what is broad and strong.

Accidents to the flesh will happen, no matter how careful you are.

11 Cents In Pocket

Man Is Given $25,000.

Marion, Ind. May. 14. —At work on a farm with only 11 cents in his pocket, Wm. H. Prickett was told he had inherited $25,000 from Frank Horch, a ranch owner of Pocatello, Idaho, for having rescued Horch's two daughters from their burning home several years ago. Prickett, then a circus bill poster, risked his life by running into a blazing house and carrying the girls to a place of safety. Horch's brother, J. H. Horch, who came here to notify Prickett of the bequest.

Man 101 Years Old

Walking to Chicago.

St. Louis, May 9. —Joseph Meyer, 191 years old, who has lost six children and a chicken farm by floods, has started to a Chicago institution of charity with 5 cents in his pocket. He declared he would cover the distance afoot.

After the Galveston tidal wave had killed his two sons and four daughters, Myer gathered what remained of his $30,000 fortune and started a chicken farm at Hickman, Ky. The floods there last month destroyed his chickens and everything else but a few odds and ends. These he sold and started for Chicago.

He was born in Berlin in 1811. He says he served in the Mexican and civil wars.

I. C. Forgives Girl Agent Who Took Funds To Get Married.

Chicago, May 14. —The Illinois Central Railroad company, usually held up as a soulless, heartless corporation delayed the part of Cupid yesterday. Not only has it forgiven Miss Mary Reynolds, ticket agent at the Stewart Ridge Station, for perpetrating a huge hoax at its expense by fabricating a story of an alleged holdup by two bandits, who, she claimed, had stolen $164 of the company's money, but through its officials it has signified its intention of encouraging the girl to marry Charles Duffy, her switchman sweetheart.

Unless the police or other authorities take the matter up, the case will be dropped and the couple will wed within a few weeks.

The Princeton common graded free school board has called an election to vote on a bond issue to purchase the Princeton Collegiate Institute on which it has an option at $26,000.00. They will convert it into a high school and will use the old college grounds and buildings instead of building new ones. There seems no doubt but that the question will carry.

We publish on page 6 an article by Mr. McFerran which ought to be of interest to the wife of every farmer in the county. There are hundreds of homes in this county that could have running water in them from some near by spring at a trifling cost. At any spring where there is a fall in the outflow of as much as one foot a hydraulic ram is perfectly practicable. We know of but one in use in the county and that is at the Tom Griffith place near Crittenden Springs, and we think the article we publish will even be of interest to Mr. Griffith's family, since this will indicate to them numerous conveniences they can add with small added expense. The Press will be glad to give information to any one interested for the asking.

A friend who worked in office sends us the following clipping from the Boston Herald and makes comment on same, which states fact of which the edito is not ashamed.

REST IN MILKING

"The 'simple life' was never more enthusiastically pursued than by Dallas Lore Sharp at the Twentieth Century Club at the last meeting. Mr. Sharp is a well known authority on woodchucks, owing to the fact that he once fired at one three times in succession without even slightly disturbing the animal's habitual serenity of demeanor.

"I take the day," said he "in correcting the English essays of College pupils and if I had not my farm to return to at night I should go mad. There is my cow, for example. I wouldn't give over milking it, anyhow. No amusement ever has given me such a sense of utter self-forgetfulness and relief as when I sit down to milk that fine Jersey cow."

We have often noticed the Editor of the Press consumingly impatient to finish the day's work at his desk and go home at 5 p. m., to milk his Jersey cows. During the day in business conversations he frequently refers to his morning's and evening's pleasurable task. When milking gets to be done by machinery, exclusively, such men as Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Sharp will sustain real loss.

being payable at the end of twenty years from the date of their issue, and redeemable at the option and pleasure of said Board of Trustees after one year from date of issue.

The Real Aristocracy

The real aristocracy of any community are the people who having a birthright in the place in which they live, and having girded themselves about with honor and integrity know that nobody anywhere are better than they are.

They can afford to live economically and plainly, and do their own work, if they choose, and because of these economies they can take it and enjoy the higher and better things of life. They do not need to have a lot of money, or put on airs, they are the real quality and in their society the simply vulgar rich, who have nothing but their money to recommend them, would feel miserable, lonesome and out of place. And in this very aristocracy you will find a greater degree of decency and refinement and comfort and happiness than anywhere else on earth. Farmers' Voice.

MEMORIAL DAY.

It is but a step now to the day when we all have to strew flowers on the graves of all that is mortal of the dear ones that we so much love.

Alas, in a little while the flowers will wither. Is it not right therefore that we should erect a suitable memorial of Granite or Marble that time cannot efface.

We are at your service with anything in our line. Backed with many years experience, with never a dissatisfied patron. We guarantee faithful, honest treatment and a deep interest in each memorial we make.

Yours very truly,

Two-Dollar Debt

Paid After Forty Years.

Columbus, Ind., May 11.—Samuel Newby, a business man of Seymour, today received some conscience money, which had been due him for forty years. A few days ago he received a letter from a woman in Seymour informing him that her first husband, long since dead, bought $2.00 worth of sweet potato plants from him forty years ago, and that recently the debt had weighed so heavily on her mind that she just felt she must pay it. On reading the letter Newby recalled the debt and today he called and collected the money.

Economy in Bond Issue.

Trigg county is preparing to take a vote next fall on the question of issuing bonds to an amount not less than $65,000 for the purpose of building turnpikes. The matter of course, is causing some discussion, and Mr. G. W. Ryan, a prominent citizen of the county, has prepared a statement showing that in his opinion, it would be a measure of economy to issue bonds. This statement is, in part, as follows:

"Under present system of working the roads by allotment of hands, to be under the supervision of the overseer, it takes $10,000 annually to pay the claims signed by the overseers of the roads, and other little job work that has to be done by the Magistrates. The county levy for general purposes is 40 cents on the $100 worth of property, and the Sheriff collects about $18,000 annually under this levy, which, as you can see, leaves only about $8,000 to pay for bridges and other legitimate expenses of the county.

"We also have a 'road and bridge' levy of 25 cents on the $100 worth of property, which brings in about $8,000 annually. This amount can only be spent in grading and graveling the roads, but it is tax collected, consequently we have a rate of taxation in Trigg county of 65 cents on the $100 worth of property, and there is collected by the Sheriff under this levy about $26,000 annually. The records show that there is about $18,000 annually spent on the roads, and about $8,000 of this amount is spent in grading and graveling, and the remainder is spent as mentioned above, or, in other words, about $10,000 is spent annually by the overseers and in job work as stated above, and there is no way for the Fiscal Court to stop this leakage of $10,000, as you know this work has to be done, and is washed out as often as it is fixed.

"Now, if the people of the county will vote the power in the hands of the Fiscal Court to issue bonds to the amount mentioned, or larger, we can build our roads in two years and the same time reduce the rate of taxation from 65 cents on the $100 worth of property to 50 cents, and by doing this we will pay the Sheriff in taxes about $21,000 annually, and it only takes about $10,000 annually to pay the running expenses of the county. This would leave about $11,000 annually to pay the interest on the bonds, which would be about $3,000 annually, and would leave the remainder, or $8,000 to pay on the bonds, and at this rate it would only take about eight years to retire the bonds, and it would insure that the rate of taxation would not exceed 50 cents on the $100 worth of property for the period of eight years.

"In some parts of the county it will probably cost about $1,200 per mile to build the roads, and in some parts it will cost less than $200 per mile, and to the best estimate that I can give we can possibly build about 100 miles of turnpike with this money, basing my estimation upon the cost of the pikes that we have built in this country in the last two years. Then if this be true it will send a pike through every community in this county, and at the same time there would be about $5,000 annually less money collected by the Sheriff with the bond issue than there is now collected under the present system.

"It is up to the voters now. You can have the best system of roads in the State in two years, and at the same time reduce the taxation 15 cents from the present rate, or you can vote down the bond issue and keep the present system of working the roads and annually spend about $10,000 in filling up mudholes to be washed away the next wet season that comes."

The reason so many counties are "getting nowhere" on the road question is because they are continually spending money "in filling up mudholes to be washed away the next wet season that comes." Ten thousand dollars is a considerable sum for any county to waste in inefficient road construction or repair, but there are counties in Kentucky that are wasting even more than that amount every year and their roads are getting "no better fast." It may be reasonably assumed that the average county official who has to deal with the road proposition does not want to throw away his county's money. It is none the less true that under the system by which most of the counties of Kentucky repair their roads the money is spent virtually to no effect.

Mr. Ryan claims that Trigg counties rate of taxation could be lowered by the issue of bonds and the immediate construction of turnpikes. He presents the figures to show how it can be done. His argument appeals strongly to the voters of the county. If by voting for bonds they can save leakage, lower their taxes and at the same time get approximately a hundred miles of improved highways they ought to make it unanimous for the bond issue at election time.—Courier Journal.

WOMEN ON THE FARM

In my school travels about the country I have been forcibly impressed with the inadequate facilities afford a great many of the women on the farms, whereby they might be greatly relieved of much of their arduous work. Generally the farmer has supplied himself with all the modern labor saving devices for his farm work, mowers, plows, harrows, reapers, cultivators, etc., on almost all of which he might ride about his work, while the women are left to get on with their work in the same drudging style of fifty years ago. No wonder it has been said, "The country is hard on women and oxen." I am thinking they have been overlooked in this matter. They and the children having often to carry water for the entire household for long distances besides the doing of other things which might be greatly alleviated by a little intelligent thought and ingenuity and at small expense on the part of their "menfolks." This is undoubtedly one very important cause leading to dissatisfaction with life in the country. Recently a concrete case illustrating what can be done to render their lot more satisfactory and enduring came under my observation. A young man came up from the country to one of our normal schools, learning to think more clearly, his mind turned to his own home surroundings. His back-breaking experience with the other children and the female members of the family in packing all water for the household over a steep cliff, which had been done for generations, spurred him to seek a less burdensome way of doing the work. He succeeded beautifully and at trifling cost. I was struck with the results obtained. He remarked that the heart-breaking work in carrying these thousands and thousands of gallons of water through all these years was due to gross ignorance and want of thought. I append a description of his work.

HYDRAULIC RAM.

Distance of spring to house, 150 feet. Distance to barn from house (at right angles), 400 feet. Elevation of house above spring, 80 feet.

Barn on level with the house. The route from the spring to the house was over a steep cliff, over which water had been carried for years by hand for a family of eleven.

Ram is placed sixty feet below the spring and at a gradual fall of elevation of twelve feet. One and one-fourth inch pipe for supply pipe, cost $5.40.

One-half inch galvanized pipe for discharge pipe.

Two hundred and ten feet from the house (ram is sixty feet beyond spring from house).

Four hundred feet to the barn. Cost (to the house), $10.50.

Cost of ram, $6.50.

Cost of coils and materials for refrigerator which was placed in kitchen, $3.00.

Amount of water furnished by the spring throughout the year at least six gallons a minute; could run with four.

Amount of water forced through the house per day, 1200 gallons.

Before installing stock were driven to a creek one-fourth of a mile away. Now they may be watered even in the barn. The value for household uses is invaluable. Either shower or tub baths may be installed. It furnishes water for young trees, for the garden, for the yard, flowers, etc. The force is sufficient to throw the water to a constant height of ten feet so that it is practicable for a fountain after the house has already been forced through the house. It keeps the refrigerator very cool in the summer and very warm (of course comparatively) in the winter. The pipe leads from a large basin in a rock spring house deep under ground to enclosed ram and on to the house.

Cost—Pipe, $15.00; ram, $6.50; refrigerator, $3.10; sink, $4.00. Total cost, $28.60.

It runs day and night and is never out of order.

Now I am fully persuaded that there are many families in Kentucky where similar conditions might be remedied in like manner. This is a forcible illustration of the needs and advantages of a better education for the children and young people of the State.

I also wish to append a realized vision of what is coming in the near future for the farmer and the farmer's wife as I earnestly hope. Of course it is not every farm that has access to a suitable water power, though there are many that have. However, the gas-line engine with its simplicity of operation and reasonable cost renders it possible for many hundreds of Kentucky farms to provide themselves with just what this Oriskany farmer has.

"AN ELECTRICALLY-RUN FARM."

Near the village of Oriskany Falls, N. Y., there is a 100-acre farm belonging to E. Hurdette Miner.

Six years ago Mr. Miner, helped by his sons, dammed a creek, obtaining a fall of but six feet. The water from the dam was led along a small canal to the tiny wooden powerhouse, where it is directed against the blades of a turbine water wheel. Bored to this wheel is a seventeen horse-power dynamo. The power plant is 1,700 feet from the house, necessitating a transmission line of bare aluminum wires. Because of this distance the plant is allowed to run night and day, without interruption, requiring only an occasional oiling. Every building, including the pig-sty, is now nightly illuminated by electric lights. A small motor drives a circular saw for cutting fire wood and turns a lathe and drill and other machinery in a nearby machine shop. A two horse-power motor drives a vacuum pump and the sweeping of the house is done in a modern way with vacuum cleaners.

A pipe from this same vacuum line extends to the cow stables and does the milking, and with the aid of vacuum milking machines. Milking twenty-five cows twice a day. A half-horse-power motor in a dairy room runs both the separator and the churn and in the summer drives an ice cream freezer. Even the grindstone is run by electricity.

The Miner residence is heated with five electric heaters which will keep the house at 75 degrees when it is zero outside. There are also several electric fans, including a ventilating fan in the attic. In the kitchen all the cooking is done by electricity for a family of from five to ten. Here a small motor does all the hard work of the kitchen and is also used to drive the sewing machine. The water system for the house and barn is automatically supplied from a motor driven pump.

When this is accomplished there are few families that will want to move from the country to the city. The drift will be strongly the other way. With such rural schools as we can and ought to have will come a higher grade of intelligence, improved methods and consequently more profitable farming, good roads and a greater uplift to rural life such as we have hardly dreamed of.

After a long life, partly in the city and partly in the country, I am convinced that the man owning one or two hundred acres of good land, well stocked and free from debt, and who knows really how to farm is to be envied of all men. He is no man's slave to come and go at the beck and call of anyone. He is his own man. He may not have the great fortune of some, which is often a misfortune after all. He does not have to lie awake at night scheming how he is to beat the other fellow in the morning, is not compelled to take off his hat to meet a banker soliciting a loan, is not compelled to watch with keen and is often scornful eyes his ledger, nor he continually watching the stock and bond market lest someone may slip up on his money by some slick financial scheme, and lastly, but by no means of least importance, he does not have to neglect his children in order to make large sums of money with which to handicap them when he is gone—nor, evocate the terrible risk and responsibility of giving away wisely his hard-earned fortune.

Let us therefore, all try to get really good schools, in city and country, in order to give all our children a good solid education linked with sound moral character and never fear that with reasonable thrift and industry they will fail to make their own money, all that they need, and use how to take care and proper care of it.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. SENIOR CLASS CELEBRATES ARBOR DAY.

Impressive Annual Ceremony Carried Out in Fitting Manner Monday Morning.

The Senior Class of State University held their annual observance of Arbor Day Monday morning. A tree was planted southwest of the Chemistry Building after which appropriate exercises were held.

It has been a custom for many years past for the departing senior class to plant a tree on the campus and pack earth around it with the same spade every year.

The custom and the day have always been carefully preserved and Arbor Day has become a red letter day in University life.

A parade was formed at the Educational Building at 10 o'clock, headed by the Cadet Band, the Seniors following. The young ladies wore white dresses and carried red roses in honor of the occasion. The Senior boys had donned their official corduroys. Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen followed in order, and the parade moved around the campus to the resting place of the tree.

Class Pres. T. E. Earl began the ceremonies with a few remarks about the story of Arbor Day and the history of the school. He was followed by N. W. Utley class orator, who delivered a speech on the day and its meaning to the departing Seniors. At the conclusion of his oration he threw the first spadeful of dirt upon the roots of the tree, followed in turn by each Senior.

The spade was then turned over to W. C. Jetton, the Junior class representative, to be kept in care until next year.

Miss Addie Dean, class prophet, read an unusually clever vision of the future, in which not a Senior escaped a gentle knock. The prophesy as read by Miss Dean, was undoubtedly the best ever heard since the custom has been established, and she deserves great credit for the painstaking work of caring for practically every member of the class.

The speech of Mr. Utley, class orator, was one of the best ever heard on the campus. In handing over the spade to the representative of the Junior class, Mr. Utley said:

"My fellow classmates, your spring is passing. The sweet scented manuscript of your youth is almost closed. You are about to enter upon the soberer years which come after youth has taken its flight. The time of your departure is now at hand; and truly it may be said 'You have fought a good fight; you have kept the faith; you have finished your course.'"

You—of the class of 1913—are in the high noon of your youth—it has been said that youth is a mystery, yet is it not a delightful mystery? That youth is foolish, yet what is the wisdom of ages beside the foolishness of youth! That youth is unstable, fickle, weak—yet is not youth all of life that is really altogether worth the living? Indeed, are not the soberer years which come after youth has flown worth the living only in proportion as the perfume and glamour of youth linger on to grace the days that are with something of the rest of the days that were? Fame, fortune, honor, power—at best what are these flaming goals of life, when attained, but Dead Sea fruit as compared with the pure sunshine of youth? But youth is a trance—a dream into which can never enter the knowledge of its own blessedness. Not till the long, the ineffable days have gone—not till the sunshine has grown pale, do we realize, can we realize what youth means. Therefore, I counsel you; Conserve the evanescent treasures these days are lavishing upon you, sense to the utmost the sweetness of the delicate perfume of youth with which they are anointing you. Accept them not carelessly as something due, but rather seize upon them with an eagerness that will recompense you with everlasting happiness.

This spade which I have here comes down to you from classes whose members are scattered to the four winds of the world—but in whose heart, wherever they may be is a cord that binds them together; their dear Kentucky state, and the memory of a little tree which they planted years ago. To you it is given to continue this tradition; to protect this spade until you, too, shall have come to the parting of the ways. May it ever be an inspiration in the years to come, as it has in the years past, to the nobler things in life; to those things which are represented by the true spirit and the true significance of Arbor Day. Take it therefore, and with it, a recognition of your merit, and of your genuine worth. And be assured that in all your enterprises you have the unaffected good wishes of the class of 1912."

The morning's entertainment was concluded by an informal dance in the gymnasium, chaperoned by Dean Hamilton. —Lexington Herald.

Pure Ground Flour Spar vs English Imported Gravel.

The open hearth basic steel plants consume fully two-thirds of the flour spar produced in this country. Their stocks are at the present time larger than for many years. This can be accounted for very easily when one considers the pressure brought to bear upon the various purchasing agents of the steel plants during the past two or three years when it was really a fight to procure flour spar sufficient to keep their furnaces going. It taught a lesson to the consumers and one is evidently sufficient. The present flour spar stocks in consumers hands are large enough to last them for three months longer, possibly more than that time. This new feature in the flour spar trade will likely surprise many of us who have been taught to believe that an immediate and never ceasing demand existed for this product. While in a general way all of our American steel plants and foundries are in active operation, a very considerable saving in flour spar is effected by using a higher grade product, that is higher in the active principle of flour spar, possibly the furnaces that consumed twenty pounds to each ton of steel produced, now with a better quality of flour spar use but ten and this makes a wonderful difference in the actual flour spar tonnage required. In a way this may be discouraging to the miners who have expended large sums for machinery to clean their flour spar, yet it is a law that cannot be disregarded. The usual car of flour spar may carry 85 per cent calcium fluoride and 10 per cent of silica or sand, such a product will give the steel plant an efficiency of but 59 per cent in the furnace. A flour spar 90 per cent calcium fluoride and 3 per cent of silica will show an efficiency of above 82 per cent so it is quite easy to see that one car of the latter grade is worth to the consumer 40 per cent more. In other words must buy over 60 tons of the 85 per cent flour spar to equal 40 tons of the 90 per cent. This of course is caused by the excess of silica or sand in the lower grade. To get to dollars and cents in the difference in values if the 85 per cent sold for $6 per net ton with ten per cent silica, the 90 per cent product with but 3 per cent silica would be well worth $8.20. The question of competition in marketing flour spar naturally follows a statement of this character and possibly an object lesson may be had in the way tobacco is disposed of. It certainly goes without saying that if every producer of flour spar offers his wares to the consumer a competition assuredly results that destroys all stability and all that the purchaser has to do is to sit quiet while the many salesmen, each one anxious to dispose of his product makes a price lower and lower until what was a profit degenerates into a positive loss. The writer is very sure that one representative as a salesman of flour spar will keep prices steadier than half a dozen in competition for the same contract. There is no doubt in our American mind that one man is just as good as another and some of us think he is better, nevertheless one man will handle all of our flour spar to much better advantage than half a dozen. Another important point is the financing of this proposition and this journal is pleased to inform its flour spar readers that flour spar of normal quality placed upon a railroad track where its shipment cannot be interfered with is considered by our better posted bank examiners among the best collateral a State bank can have in its possession. Very likely some of our banks may still be chary of loaning money upon collateral of this character but they will soon get into the band wagon of common sense. It would be a bit of strong progressive methods if all of our mining interests would unite on some selling basis and not be at the mercy of half dozen people cutting a price that is quite low enough.

The question of the admittance of the English product which is known as flour spar free of duty will be threshed out at the port of Philadelphia the latter part of the month. Importers of this English product filed a protest against a payment of 3 dollars per long ton and demanded that their flour spar, which they term gravel spar and spar gravel should have free admittance in this country. They base their demand on the ground that their product is not manifested as flour spar and that in fact in comparison with our better cleaned product is not flour spar. The trouble with all this, so far as our cousin John Bull is concerned, he has overstayed his market, he has advertised in the iron and steel journals his English product as flour spar, marketed it as flour spar and we predict that the decision at the Philadelphia hearing will be that it's flour spar and the duty will be insisted upon. Naturally John Bull would have a healthy time selling gravel spar to one of our purchasing agents after assuring him that it was not flour spar. It's a wonderfully thin ice that he is trying to skate upon, yet it would be well for our Kentucky miners to not overlook in any way this subject and possibly some one should represent their interests at this hearing.
